

ARCADIA UNIVERSITY
THE COLLEGE OF GLOBAL STUDIES
London

Lecturer: Physics

The College of Global Studies, Arcadia University, USA

The London Center for The College of Global Studies is seeking to appoint a Lecturer for a second year, second semester Introductory level Physics course, commencing January 2022. The course will cover: periodic motion, waves and fluids; thermodynamics; electricity and magnetism. The course will meet twice a week with no laboratory element. This is an adjunct position for one semester, with the possibility of renewal, the course is taught only in Spring. Teaching will begin in week commencing 17th Jan with the semester ending 26th April, There is a reading week break in week 7 of the semester (28th Feb-4th March)

The course will follow the syllabus for a US partner institution and there will be a number of virtual meetings with US faculty members at the partner to support the adjunct in delivering the London version of the course.

Main Duties

- Teaching the above class including two classroom meetings for 12 teaching weeks.
- Preparation of teaching materials for the course (in liaison with US partner)
- Providing academic advising, either face-to-face, via canvas VLE or by email
- Arranging/accompanying students on co-curricular trips, where relevant
- Setting and administering mid term and end-of-term examinations (in liaison with US partner institution) invigilation and marking, including some second marking if required
- Attendance at academic staff meetings (up to two per semester)

Required

- Masters or equivalent relevant professional experience in related field
- Past experience of teaching in higher education

Desirable

- Phd in relevant field
- Understanding of US higher education system
- Previous experience teaching within US higher education

Person Specification

An individual who can develop effective working relationships with both academic and administrative staff. All applicants should be able to lawfully accept employment in the U.K. If you are not a UK citizen, please address your right to work in the UK in your covering letter.

Salary

£ 3,500 plus a 3.5% matched pension contribution.

Application

All Applications (CV and references) and enquiries should be sent to Andrew George, Director of Arcadia London Center at georgea@arcadia.edu