Northeastern University London (the University) is hiring multiple Residence Life Coordinators (RLCs) to be based in London, England. The Residence Life Coordinator will help support the physical, emotional, social, and academic needs of approximately 900 Northeastern University first-year cohort program students and/or study abroad students participating across multiple programs. RLCs are directly responsible for a group of 30-50 students.

The University offers admission and enrolment programme opportunities that advance the university's global mission and help meet students' needs. Students who apply for admission to Northeastern University Boston (Northeastern) may be offered direct entry into some of these specialised entry and pathway programmes. The RLC will provide pastoral support to a group of residential students who are studying at the University for one or more semesters. This is an in-person position that requires site staff to live in the student accommodation. Under supervision from the Residence Life Supervisors (RLSs) and Residence Life Managers (RLMs), the person in this role will serve within an on-call rotation and will be required to work non-traditional hours (evenings, weekends, bank holidays, etc.) to help support co-curricular programming and manage escalated student emergencies.

Duties and Responsibilities

- Plan, propose, and implement multiple programs using the Residential Curriculum, for an assigned group of 30-50 students. The majority of events will take place in or around a residence hall, however select events will be held in wider London.
 - Work with building peers (Senior Residence Life Coordinators & Residence Life Coordinators) to plan, propose, and implement building wide programs for all the University students in one assigned residence hall.
 - Manage individual programming budget, ensuring appropriate and accurate use of funds throughout the academic year.
- Encourage student academic success, respond to student concerns and connect students to on-site academic, medical and mental health resources. Support measures include monthly one-to-one meetings with students.
- Report and escalate students of concerns to Residence Life Supervisor and/or Residence Life Manager.
- Participate in an 24/7 on-call rotation to support the safety and wellbeing of students within the residence halls. RLCs will serve as the primary staff member on call with support from SRLCs, RLSs, and RLMs as necessary.
- Conduct student check-ins, potentially outside of working hours, within the halls of residence as necessary, submitting any relevant reports and/or follow-up notes to the supervisor team.
- Serve on a Residence Services Committee to further the development of department initiatives, staff bonding, and collaboration with other departments within the institution.
- Attend weekly 1:1 meetings with supervisor, weekly team meetings, and monthly departmental meetings to stay apprised of departmental and institutional updates.
- Work large-scale events such as arrivals and departures weekends, end-of-year parties etc., and other institution-wide events. Some of these may take place during unsociable hours.

- Foster a positive work environment with a good team spirit, including the wider support teams, with student experience at the forefront of all efforts.
- Undertake additional responsibilities as assigned by a member of the Residence Life Leadership Team.

About the University

Founded in 2012, Northeastern University London (formerly known as New College of the Humanities) has established itself as a prestigious higher education institution based in the heart of London.
